

To whom it may concerns

Mr. Pietro Mutolo has been engaged as a self employed Senior Procurement Manager by the T-Systems International from December 15th 2008 to the end of September 2010. He manages national and international projects, from the first briefing with the Business Units to the final contract implementation, in the IT Security, Application and General Software Management area. Apart that he was involved in Due Diligence tasks responsible to proof transition contracts.

I've know Pietro as a very honest, dependable, strong-willed and well experienced person. He works very efficient and punctually bringing constantly best results. Mr Pietro Mutolo showed a high level of interest in all business processes and worked completely independently. Pietro is also a team player and an Independent too with strong work and service ethic and best social and languages skills.

I can also recommend Pietro without any reservation. He would be a tremendous asset in your company.

Yours sincerely

Stefan Gramm

Procurement, Head of Strategic Software Sourcing